

EDUCATOR FLYER

PRESENTS

7th Heaven

"Suspicion"

A Compelling Drama About Intolerance

FREE Educational Resources Available!

WHAT

THE WB Television Network's 7th Heaven introduces Suspicion, an episode addressing the intricate concerns of fear and intolerance in our society. Featuring a Muslim student who becomes terrorized by bullies, Suspicion relays a powerful message about how fear of someone's ethnicity and religious background can promote intolerance, prejudice and discrimination among young people.

To help parents and educators use Suspicion as a springboard to discuss prejudice and discrimination in light of September 11, as well as in a broader context, THE WB is providing FREE educational resources, including backgrounders, suggestions for questions and activities, and resources for further research and investigation. To access the guide, visit <http://cnnfyi.com>

WHEN

7th Heaven Suspicion airs on Monday, January 21 at 8PM/ET, 7PM/CT on THE WB.

CURRICULUM AREAS

Social Studies and Guidance Counselors.

CURRICULUM MATERIALS

Available online at <http://cnnfyi.com>, the guide illustrates to young people, parents and teachers how to be proactive in understanding how to help alleviate some of the prejudice and discrimination on both individual and societal levels.

Taping Rights

One-year taping rights are offered to help educators use the program to explore issues related to fear and intolerance.

To register for taping rights and access the FREE curriculum materials, visit <http://cnnfyi.com>. Then, tune in to THE WB Television network on Monday, January 21 at 8PM/ET, 7PM/CT and tape the program for continued use in your classroom.

Information

For more information about THE WB Television Network's 7th Heaven program, please visit <http://theWB.com>.

About 7th Heaven

THE WB's highest-rated series for the past four seasons, 7th Heaven has been praised for providing high-quality entertainment for all ages and has received honors from the Parents Television Council.